Bug fixes

1. Error when trying to submit a job

In some instances, when approving services on the service line and submitting the job, an error would be shown preventing you to submit. This has now been resolved.

2. Unable to update service label

In some cases, updating the service label on the service line would not update the label. This has now been resolved and you will successfully be able to change the label.

3. Fixed column alignment on job details page

The service line columns were misaligned when the service name exceeded the column width; this has now been resolved, ensuring all columns are the correct width when viewing service lines.
